

BYLAWS of Wisconsin Fathers for Children and Families, Inc. (WFCF)

Section 1 - Organization

1.1 Name. For legal purposes, the name of the organization as originally chartered by the State of Wisconsin in 1988 is Fathers for Equality and Justice, Inc. The name was changed in the early 1990's to Wisconsin Fathers for Equal Justice (WFEJ) and in 1998 to Wisconsin Fathers for Children and Families (WFCF). The organization does business under this latter name (WFCF), and will hereafter be referred to as such in these by-laws. The organization is also sometimes referred to simply as Wisconsin Fathers.

1.2 Goals and Purposes. WFCF was founded in 1988 by and for fathers who were experiencing the loss of a normal relationship with their children as a result of divorce or separation. WFCF has, as its fundamental goal, the preservation of a normal father-child relationship upon dissolution of the family unit. A major objective is to support the father's wishes for a type of relationship the father believes is in the best interest of the child/children. Our presumption is that equal parenting by father and mother is the most desirable parenting style. WFCF works primarily with fathers (regardless of whether they were ever married to the mother of their children), but serves others in a father's family, such as a second wife or the children's grandparents.

When Wisconsin's Equal Justice Task Force challenged gender bias in Wisconsin courts in 1989, WFCF recognized that its appeal for equal and just treatment for fathers was part of a nationwide trend to extend equal justice principles throughout our society. As equality and greater opportunities appeared for women, WFCF insisted that gender bias against fathers in the courts be equally recognized and removed.

WFCF remains dedicated to securing equal justice in the courts, but with the realization that to secure fair and equitable treatment for fathers in the courts, the definition of "best interests of the child" needs to include the loving devotion of both parents and the legitimate interest of the extended family. WFCF knows that both parents are critically important to the child's well-being, and that the preservation of these family bonds is of great importance.

Toward these ends, WFCF has the following specific goals and objectives:

- A presumption of joint legal custody between the parents, where both parents share equally in major decisions regarding their child(ren).
- Equalizing to the greatest extent possible the placement of children with both parents.
- Enhancement of conditions for children that favor regular contact with the extended family.
- Promoting financial support guidelines for children that presume each parent will pay their own share of costs.

- Elimination of all laws, presumptions, court practices, and governmental agency biases that have the effect of favoring one parent over the other on the basis of gender.
- Improvement of conditions for fathers and their children through education and open communication among our members and with the public at large.
- Providing personal services to our members to the extent possible that may include counseling, emotional support, and information sharing about lawyers, legal challenges, and other areas of expressed need.

1.3 Structure. WFCF is a statewide organization, operated primarily for the benefit of citizens of the State of Wisconsin. It is directed and managed by an elected Board of Directors.
